About the Event

NEXT IN DESIGN FUTURE is more than just an expo—it's a dynamic and immersive experience where creativity meets possibility. This event brings together leading design universities, industry experts, and creative professionals to inspire and guide the next generation of designers.

Through hands-on workshops, expert-led masterclasses, and thought-provoking panel discussions, the expo acts as a career compass for aspiring artists and designers. It's not just about showcasing opportunities—it's about shaping futures, much like personalized career counseling, but set in the vibrant and ever-evolving world of design.

Whether you're passionate about UX/UI, animation, fashion, product design, or game development, this is where the future of design begins to take shape.

Why Next in Design

Design is no longer a niche—it's everywhere, from the apps on our phones to the layout of our cities. "Next in Design" represents:

- The evolving landscape of creative careers in design, digital media, art, and innovation.
- A platform to explore future-forward trends in art, design, technology, and storytelling.
- The fusion of imagination, industry, and innovation, showcasing how design drives change across sectors.
